If Disagree, Why?

Other Comments:

Because of the high groundwater target score (44), the spillage of oil and trichloroethane which occurred in 1984 should be looked into. This will serve to verify the claim that the waste storage areas were found to be "clean and free from contamination".

Recommendation:
Final (By EPA)

* There is an error in addition, under "Route Characteristics" for the surface water migration route (projected). The total should be 13 and not 15. The error in scoring does not, however, effect NUS's priority rating.
